Your guide to environmental law affecting your business

Dear Subscriber

What's your duty of care?

You have a legal responsibility to ensure that you produce, treat, store, transport and dispose of your business waste without harming the environment. This is called your duty of care. Find out what your business has to do in our guidance on duty of care.

Check for hazardous waste

Fluorescent light tubes, printer toner and cathode ray tubes in computer monitors... almost all businesses produce some hazardous or special waste. Do you know how to store, transport and dispose of it? Find the answers in our hazardous / special waste guidance and learn how your business can produce less, to cut your disposal costs and reduce your environmental impact.
